

About us

Voluntary Adoption Agencies Caritas Care and Adoption Matters have formed a partnership to deliver the Concurrent Planning service. Both organisations are proudly rated as 'Outstanding' by Ofsted and registered adoption agencies. Together they have a track record of delivering high quality permanency services to local authorities across the north west of England.

Caritas Care is also a registered Independent Fostering Agency with an Ofsted rating of 'Outstanding'.

We are a team who are passionate about concurrent planning and the outcomes that it achieves for the child, carers and birth parents. Our social workers all have a background in children and families social work, fostering and adoption.

A different way to adoption

A guide for prospective carers

What is concurrent Planning?

Concurrent Planning is for babies and young children in care who are likely to need adoption, but who still have a chance of being reunited with their birth family. Concurrent carers perform the role of foster carer while the courts decide whether or not a child can return to its birth family.

During this time the children will need to see their parents regularly and the concurrent carers will need to support the birth family's efforts to regain the care for their child.

If the courts decide that the birth parents have shown they can be reliable, able and loving parents, the babies will be returned to their care. The concurrent carers will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have given these children the best possible start in life by providing care and security from the earliest time, and will help them settle back into their family.

However, if the courts decide that the child's parents cannot provide the security and care they need, and there are no alternative carers from within the birth family, the child will remain with their concurrent carer/s and be adopted by them.

Why choose concurrent planning?

When a child is first taken into the care of the local authority, they are placed with the 'concurrent carers' who look after the child as their foster carers and take the child for frequent contact with their birth parents or relatives at an agreed neutral venue (often at the office base in Salford).

The local authority works with the birth parents whilst the case is being considered by the court (usually within 6 months) and the court then decides if the child should return to their birth family or be adopted by the existing carers.

Did you know?

This concurrent planning service is the only one of its kind in the North West and is an exciting, creative and challenging opportunity to offer a service which minimises disruption and unnecessary moves for very young children.

What are the benefits for carers?

Carers who go on to adopt get to know and love their children from a very young age and help them through the time in their life when they are most vulnerable; this is something that may not always be possible with traditional adoption.

You will get to know the parents of the child from regular contact sessions, which can form the basis for meaningful contact in the future and be an important source of information for the child in later life.

What kind of carers are we looking for?

Concurrent Carers can be couples or single carers and from any background, however they need to be:

- Able to support the return of a child to their birth family.
- Loving, emotionally resourceful and at all times able to put the needs of very young children first.
- Able to respect and work with birth families and prepared to support contact between children and their birth families
- Prepared to deal with uncertainty
- Have their own strong support networks through family and friends

What support is available for carers?

- Specialist preparation, training and assessment are provided to all prospective carers.
- Intensive and high quality support from a Concurrent Planning Social Worker
- Financial support - During the fostering phase, concurrent carers will receive a fostering allowance. One carer is required to look after the child on a full-time basis during the fostering phase.
